About the Martin and Nancarrow families:

The Nancarrow and Martin families lived on Rossi Hill, Park City, Utah during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries.

George Henry Nancarrow, Sr. was born February 27, 1869 in Cornwall, England. He immigrated to the United States in 1885 and worked as a miner. He married Mary Ann Cargeeg (also born in Cornwall, in 1875) on December 24, 1894 in Park City, Utah. The couple had seven children: Edith, Elizabeth, George, Leonard, Reta, Francis, and Thelma. George was active in the Knights of Pythias and the Order of the Sons of St. George.

George Nancarrow died from miner's consumption on June 15, 1927. Mary Ann died at the age of 73 on July 21, 1948. Both are buried in the Glenwood Cemetery, Park City.

Lawrence Luther Martin was born on April 7, 1889 in Park City to Amanda Rumel and Andrew Martin. Rumel was originally from Philadelphia and, after briefly living in St. Louis, Missouri, migrated west to join the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Martin was originally from Nauvoo, Illinois and had moved to Salt Lake City sometime in the 1850s. Lawrence was the youngest of their eleven children, born after the family's 1886 move to Park City, where Andrew Martin worked as a miner. Lawrence followed in his father's footsteps, also becoming a miner. He worked in various positions including skimmer, millman, and foreman, and lost an eye in a mining accident.

Lawrence was drafted into military service on June 5, 1917. He was stationed in Vladivostok, Siberia and Camp Fremont from May 1918 to July 1919, his service seeing the end of World War I as well as the Russian Revolution.

Lawrence Martin married George and Mary Ann's daughter Edith Nancarrow, when he was 28 year old and she was 21. They had two children, Florence May (Cossey) and Mary Elizabeth (Vincent). Lawrence died on May 5, 1979. Edith died on May 9, 1980. Both are buried in the Park City Cemetery.

Details about other Nancarrow and Martin family members are provided in the finding aid below.
